Convergence Technology Consulting Named Citrix's Top Federal Advisor

Glen Burnie, M.D. – Convergence Technology Consulting, one of the premier network engineering and integrations firms on the east coast, announced today that it was named the Top Federal Advisor for Citrix. Convergence received this award at Citrix's Annual Summit in Orlando, Florida on Tuesday, January 30. This achievement proves Convergence's continued efforts in excelling as one of Citrix's Premier Solution Advisors. Citrix is the global leader in desktop virtualization and remote connectivity solutions.

"We have enjoyed a long relationship with Citrix and look forward to maintaining our status as one of their top platinum partners," said Larry Letow, President and COO of Convergence Technology Consulting.

"Citrix is thrilled to be recognizing Convergence with the Top Federal Advisor Partner of the Year award," said Tom Simmons, Area Vice President, Citrix Federal. "From the management to sales and engineering, Convergence is a truly committed Citrix partner delivering outstanding customer satisfaction and fully leveraging the resources of being a Citrix partner."

Convergence Technology Consulting is a technologically centric organization. From the first meeting to discuss an issue, Convergence works to deliver solutions and training for the client as to not stray away from the focus of meeting the client's requirements and preparing the organization to be as self-reliant as necessary. We look at relationships with clients as a partnership. In making sure the partnership achieves continued success, our technological solutions encompass the three components: People, Process, and Technology.

"Citrix is a visionary in the virtualization market place that started years ago as the leader in desktop virtualization - this partnership is very important," said Phil Ernst, CEO and CTO of Convergence Technology Consulting.
